

Video Syndication Made Easy

This report is brought to you by:
www.career-builders-club.com

This is a free report and must stay free. You can give it away for free or use it to attract subscribers.

This short report will reveal to you one strategy, that is 100% Free, and can pay you for years to come by driving free targeted traffic to your websites via video sharing sites, social bookmark sites, and all the major search engines!

The basic idea is to use videos just as marketers have used articles for the last several years to drive targeted free traffic to your site. Everyone is submitting articles, so the competition is fierce. Comparatively, hardly anyone is using this video syndication method.

Every video you put online will be indexed by the search engines, and can bring you a ton of traffic, especially if it goes "viral". (Even if it doesn't go viral, you're still getting backlinks, and more search engine traffic for your main site and videos.)

Let's get started...

Step One: Download Your Free Video Submission Software.

This software will submit your videos to 10 top video sharing sites on autopilot, and is the core of this strategy.

Download your copy: <http://FreeVideoSubmitter.com>

Step Two: Get Video Content to Re-brand with YOUR Website Information.

Download Videos for Free at:

<http://www.theinternetmarketingtrainingcenter.com/video/>

Note: You will need to convert these files to .mpeg/.wmv/.avi to be able to submit them to the most video sharing sites.

Instead of buying expensive software to do this for you, use the Free online file conversion service at: <http://www.zamzar.com/>

Get Exclusive Videos with Private Label Rights at:

<http://11DollarVideos.com>

Step Three: Re-brand your videos.

1. Add title clips to the beginning, middle, and end of your videos. In these title clips, direct users to your website by offering a free gift/download/report.
2. Add your own watermark (I suggest using your URL – displayed across the bottom of the screen throughout the entire video).
3. Produce your videos in multiple formats. Produce your video as AVI and WMV, and you've just doubled the number of videos you can put online!

Step Four: Submit Your Videos to Multiple Video Sharing Sites using the Free Video

Submitter software you downloaded in Step One.

Step Five: Bookmark your video URLs at popular social bookmark sites, using the FREE online tool at: <http://VideoTrafficAssistant.com/bm>

It's very easy to use, and once you try it you'll be hooked!

Bookmark all new webpages from this point forward, and you'll be impressed with the results this will bring you. You'll get targeted traffic from the bookmark sites, more backlinks to your websites, higher search engine rankings, and more search engine traffic.

Step Six: Repeat! You will begin to see traffic to your videos and your main websites within 72hrs of your initial submission, often sooner!

How to convert Powerpoint slides to video for free

You can make your Powerpoint slides more accessible on the web by converting them to video format in WMV for upload to video web sites. From there you can then convert from WMV to FLV and SWF to embed on your own web pages.

1. Here is how to convert your slides to video for free:

1.1 From within Powerpoint choose the options "File", "Save as", then at "Save as type" choose JPEG or PNG and click "Save". The program will then ask you if it must save all slides. If you choose "Yes" it will save all slides.

1.2 Now go to Windows Movie Maker. It resides at "My Computer", "Local Disc(C)", "Program Files", "Windows", "Windows Movie Maker". From within Windows Movie Maker one can import images and sound to use for making a video. You can also download the latest version from the Microsoft web site.

The only disadvantage is that you lose the animation part in Powerpoint.

You can use this software to mix images/video with sound and effects. It works better than Camtasia and is easy to use. Just fiddle around a bit. You can upload *.wmv files to Youtube and Facebook, as they convert it to their standards.

You can also use these files with a clickable link on web pages, so people can watch your videos. For users of Internet Explorer, it will automatically opens in Windows Media Player, which resides on their PC's hard drive. For Firefox users it works a bit slower, as the whole file must first be downloaded before Windows Media Player will open and play it.

2. Mixing voice with sound for free:

Download the latest version of the Audacity software from this free open source link:

<http://audacity.sourceforge.net/>

You can make dramatic effects like higher volume at start and end and lower volume music while you record your voice. Use the final product with Windows Movie Maker to mix in your sound.

3. Conversion of video outputs for free:

Converting your Windows Movie Maker *.wmv files to *.flv and shockwave *.swf, so you can embed a video on any web page for online watching, with control buttons, use this link to download the Free Studio:

4. Embedding sound with display buttons for free:

If you want to embed only sound without video on a web page, like a voice message with background sounds and the stop, pause and start buttons, you can use Impact Web Audio. It has a few music skins installed, but you can also use your outputs from Audacity inside this software. The aim here is to get the buttons displayed on your web page with this application. You can also buy Impact Web Audio Pro, with 1500 sound skins, if you want. How will you ever use such a quantity? Also it must be possible to get sounds elsewhere for free?

5. Music-In-A-Box:

Alternatively, you can buy Music-In-a-Box V2, cheaper, then you also get 353 Hollywood sound skins and the Impact Web Audio Basic, all with Master Resell Rights.
